Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 26 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Early hill fog clearing to leave sunny spells and showers.

Today:
Early cloud will lift and break to sunny spells through the morning. A scattering of light showers will develop for the afternoon. Feeling warm in the sunshine. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
Any lingering showers will soon ease during the evening with clear spells overnight. Cloud will then gradually thicken from the east during the early hours but remaining dry. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Sunday:
A bright start in the west, with cloudier conditions elsewhere. Cloud will break through the day to leave sunny intervals, though the odd shower possible in the far south later. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Wet on Monday with a band of persistent rain, heavy and possible thundery, moving across the country. Cloudy on Tuesday and Wednesday with further spells of rain or showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.